"Jessica was a standout guest on The Your Legacy Brand Podcast. Her episode was clear, compelling, and full of substance. We had a powerful conversation about her book Too Much, and her work helping women consultants own their expertise without apology. The episode sparked some great feedback and listeners were truly moved."

TOO MUCH

What it really means to be 'too much'
and how to harness it as your greatest gift

Screw the stigmas. Stop playing it small. You don't have to settle for less. You deserve more. Consider this book your invitation to think big, dream big, do big.

It's time to rise up and step into your truest self – no apology needed.

"Jessica was a great podcast host - thoughtful, curious, and easy to talk to. She creates space for the kind of honest, behind-the-scenes conversations that consultants really need - the ones about the mindset shifts it takes to grow a successful consulting business. It was great to talk with her about what's often not said out loud in our space, and listeners of my podcast said this was one of their favorite episodes!"
